At a meeting of the Whig members of Congress, held in the Senate Chamber on Friday evening April 2, 1852, Hon. Willie P. Mangum, Senator from North Carolina, was called to the Chair, and Joseph B. Scientific Exchanges.

We have several times called the attention of our readers to the subject of Scientific Exchanges, as advocated and encouraged, we perhaps ought to say invented by Josiah Holbrook, Esq., at least so far as relates to exchanges between the pupils of the public schools of our country. We have become renewedly interested in this matter, from the fact of receiving a bundle of handsome specimens of Penmanship and drawing from the pupils of one of the public schools of New York, in which drawing has been introduced and exchanges made. The specimens we regard as very beautiful in themselves, and worthy as Keepsakes, but when we consider them as a part of the written exercises of the public schools, and made as offerings in a general system of exchanges which is ultimately to become general, not only throughout the country, but throughout the world, we cannot but rejoice with new hope for the educational prospects of the rising generation.

Mr. Holbrook's plan embraces not merely the exchanges of specimens of maps and drawing but also objects of interest gathered and classified, labelled and arranged by the pupils of the common schools of our country. The plan is not a Utopian or impracticable one. It has been proved as eminently practical and as appropriate for every school and every intelligent family. Specimens as offerings to science and patriotism from numerous public schools have been forwarded to school districts and friends of education in Maine by her Representatives in Congress, who are thus made the mediums of diffusing the most valuable knowledge, and of promoting the general progress of education. The taste of children and youth in collecting specimens of ..... becoming acquainted with their properties, for the purpose of forwarding them in exchange, with the members of some family or school they enter at once, and under the most favorable circumstances upon "self instruction," which is the best of all instruction, because it secures true progress, as it is not confined to school hours or schoolrooms, but to all hours and all days, and may and must be continued through life. By the way side, and the sea shore at home and abroad, there is much to observe, and by right habits to observe intelligently and usefully. What pupil is there in any public school who cannot collect a small specimen of granite, or of slate? The picking up of either, though at first as merely poking up a stone, becomes a reference to the object of collecting and arranging the means of acquiring true scientific knowledge. The stone becomes a specimen, illustrating a fact in science, and from this small point, once well begun, the whole science of Geology may be acquired, and that in time which, with most persons, is thrown away.

If the system of Exchange could be actively and enthusiastically entered upon in the public schools and families in New England, we feel fully satisfied that the progress of our youth would be rendered sure, their advancement rapid, and that they would secure unnumbered Blessings, and the source of quiet happiness which have not as yet been obtained.

The friends of public education in Maine must not long delay entering upon this matter.

☞ The National Era, the Washington organ of the Free Soilers, calls Franklin Pierce a Hunker of Hunkers, profoundly loyal to Slavery, from whom no word or vote in behalf of Human Rights has ever been recorded, who has avowed the entire devotion to the Compromise, but who, in the absence of any avowal, could be better trusted by the Slaveholding Interest than a majority of the candidates for whom it had voted. And yet the New York Times says that the Democratic Convention by the nomination of Pierce, did not fail to provide for the Free Soil vote of New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Gen. Pierce.—The Providence Journal says that General Franklin Pierce arrived in that city last evening, by the way of Fall River, in the Canonicus, and took rooms at the City Hotel. A large number of citizens called upon him, and in the evening, accompanied by some of his Democratic friends, he visited Governor Dorr, at his residence, on Benefit street.

☞ A writer in the Gardiner (Me.) Ebuntain says that the last resort adopted by the lovers of the "article," to smuggle in their favorite beverage—is an earthen vessel which might readily be mistaken for a hymn book or pocket Bible, but which instead of the "bread of life," contains the "waters of death."

☞ The injunction against the Monkeys in New York, has been removed, and they can perform in the Astor Place Opera House as well as Forrest, the Judge considering their performances quite as respectable.

☞ The Jury in the case of Silas Wright were unable to agree on a verdict and were discharged.

Caught a Tartar.

It is not uncommon in the trials of liquor cases for the defendants to undertake to impeach the testimony of the Government witnesses. This was attempted in the case of Hero Joes, before the Supreme Court, last Friday.

One McDaniel, an Ignoramus, but a very honest man, was called to impeach the testimony of his son, who testified to a sale by the defendant to his father. It seems that, before the justice, when the examination was originally had, the father contradicted this son, and upon his testimony the defendant relied for an acquittal by the jury. On going upon the stand the old gentleman insisted upon going on with his story his own way. He didn't want any to keep putting questions to him, he would tell the truth. He then ran on for some time upon matter wholly irrelevant, but at length hauled up with

"But don't say nuthin'—keep still—hold on—I'll tell the truth—all I know about it—I shan't lie for nobody. Now then come a'cord, spade we spade and the first—

Defts Attorney—Mr. Witness! Did—

Witness—Don't keep askin' questions—say nothin'—keep still—hold on—I'm coming right at it—the fact is—I shan't lie for nobody—don't help it—the fact is, My Dear Sir sell me the liquor, and I paid for it.

Defts Atty—Did you or not pay for same?

Witness—Hold on—hold on—keep still—don't ask so many questions—I'll tell the truth. No sir, I didn't pay for no bills, I paid for liquor.

Defts Atty—But you testified before the justice that you paid for bills.

Witness—How did he—yes, but that was a mistake. I and Injun, and the mate ten days afterwards. I thought I paid for them bills, but it was the liquor I paid for. I'm sorry Mr. Joes, you're a neighbor, Mr. Joel, and a very clever man to me, and I hate to swear again you, but you shouldn't 'a brought me here—I won't lie for nobody—I don't want to come, but I did pay for the liquor—I hope you'll excuse me—but the fact is I did buy the liquor and pay for it—and I'll swear to the truth—I'm sorry—and you ought'n't to brought me here."

Here was a Tartar clear enough, and the defendant got rid of him as soon as he could.

The result was that the jury did not agree, and poor Joes hangs between heaven and earth until next November.

Rev. A. L. Stone.—The many friends of the Rev. A. L. Stone, Pastor of the Park Street Church in Boston, but who is now temporarily absent from his charge, in Bermuda, on account of ill health, will rejoice to learn that he is fast recovering. In a letter to the Congregationalist, dated, Hamilton, Bermuda, May 25th, he says:

"When I left New York, I had just come forth from a sick chamber, where I had been a captive for six weeks, with a complication of ailments the least of which might well have proved mortal—inflamation of the lungs, with severe coughing and hemorrhage, congestion of the brain and intermitting fever, and could just totter a few rods leaning upon the arm of a friend. Now I will eight orten miles a day, gallop all over the Island, swim as strong a stroke as in my most vigorous days, and pull an oar second to none in the boat. Cough, fever, night sweats and all have taken leave of me, and physically I feel myself a new man.

☞ The following is an extract from a Baltimore letter dated June 8th to the National Intelligencer:

"Reasonable to-day of the manner in which the Hall of Maryland Mechanics Institute is to be arranged for the Whig National Convention, which will be an improvement on the plans adopted for the Democratic Convention. The platform is to be placed directly in the centre of the hall, with the President's stand, seats for the Vice Presidents, desks for the Secretaries, &c., adjoining the wall. Ample and complete accommodations will be made for reporters and members of the press.

"It is expected that there will be a much larger number of persons here at the Whig Convention than were at the Democratic. The States of New York and Pennsylvania, I am told, will send immense delegations. Maryland, too, will turn out strongly. A large number of rooms in the principal hotels are already engaged.

A Challenge.—Two or three Boston ship owners have sent a challenge to the ship owners of Great Britain, somewhat to the following effect:

The Boston parties will produce a ship, not less than 800, nor over 1200 tons register, capable of stowing 50 per cent. over her register, to compete with any vessel of the same capacity now built, or which may hereafter be built, in Great Britain. In other words, (the register limits specified above taken into consideration,) the object of the challenge is to decide which of the parties can obtain the highest rate of speed from the same cubic capacity of model, the winning party to receive £10,000.

The length, breadth, &c., are left to the option of each party. A vessel of the model will be a fair medium between our clippers and packet ships, and well adapted for the East India trade. The proposed race, we understand, is to be a voyage to China; but this, of course, may be modified or changed according to circumstances.—[Boston Atlas.

Mr. T. F. Meagher's Speech.

New York, June 11.

Yesterday, at 1 o'clock, the committees of both boards of the Common Council waited on Mr. Meagher at the Astor House, and presented him the joint resolves adopted by each body on the 7th inst. Alderman Jacob F. Oakley, Chairman of the Special Committee of the two Boards, was introduced to Mr. Meagher, and in behalf of the committee presented a certified copy of the resolves, with the seal of the city attached, and accompanied the presentation with an appropriate address, to which Mr. Meagher replied as follows:

"Gentlemen—Had the effort in which I lost my freedom been successful, the honors now tendered would not surprise me. But it was otherwise. Far from realizing, it o'ersoared the hope which accompanied and inspired it, ending suddenly in disgracement.

The gratitude of a people is most courteous; it is quick to appreciate, to encourage, to reward. Never slow or stanted in the measure it pours out. Its fault is to be too precipitate and profuse. Estimating merit not by the severe standard of success, it takes motives into consideration, regardless of the fortune which attends them, and for whatever sacrifices they have entailed, awards a great requivalent. In this the gratitude of a people differs from the gratitude of kings. With the latter, success is the executive condition of excellence. Ribbands, knightly decorations, orders of nobility, these are given by kings in exchange only for the trophies which decorate their halls, or the acquisitions which widen the surface of their dominion.

Not so with the people. They do not barter and economize their gifts. Whatever the result, (be the motive upright, be the deed honorable,) and their sweets are forthcoming. Moreover, at sometimes it happens that where disaster has most ruthlessly fallen, there their sympathies are most warkedly and their treasures most plenteously bestowed. This it is which explains the proceedings in my regard of the noble city you represent. I have sought to serve my country, and been anxious to contribute to her freedom; this I shall not assume the modesty to deny. Long I have mingled with the strife of politics; it was my ambition to be identified with the destiny of my country,—to share her glory, if glory were decreed her,—to share her suffering and tribulation, if such should be her position. For the little I have done I have had my reward in the publicity assigned me, to be the last and humblest name in the history which contains the names of Emmet and Fitzgerald—names which awaken notes of heroism in the coldest heart, and stir lofty purposes in the most sluggish mind, as no honor which compensates me fully for the privations I have endured. Any recompense over merit is, in its nature, to me, undue and excessive. Whilst my country remains in sorrow and subjection, it would be indelicate in me to participate in the festivities you propose.

When she rises herself and arrives from the bolder struggle, when she goes forth like Miriam, with song and timbrel, to celebrate her victory, I too shall lift up my head and join in the hymn of freedom. Till then, the retirement I seek will best accord with the love I bear her, and the silence which her present fate inspires. Nor do I forget the hospitalities of my exile. My hand is with them at this hour, and shares the solitude in which they dwell. The freedom that has been restored to me is conditioned by the recollection of their captivity; while they are in prison, a shadow rests upon my spirit, and thoughts that might otherwise be free throb heavily within me.

It is painful for me to speak. I should feel happy in being permitted to be silent; for these reasons you will not fail to be displeased with me for declining the honors you adhere me to accept.—Did I esteem them less, I should not consider myself so unworthy, nor decline an opportunity to enjoy them. The privilege of personally a great and living cause—A past full of fame, and a future full of hope—and whose names are prominent and imperishable.

It pains me deeply to make this reply, being sensible of the enthusiasm which glows around me, and the eagerness with which a public opportunity of meeting me has been awaked. I know it will disappoint a generous anxiety, but the propriety of the determination I have come to, is proved by the indelicacy even of this consideration, to overcome me. I know, too, that as it grieves me it will grieve others, and that perhaps the motives that have led to it may be misunderstood, misconstrued and censured; but I am confident that intervening while the public judgment will sanction the act which alone regard to what I owe my country, my companions, and myself seriously dictates. Yet so far as your invitation recognizes the fidelity to which I adjured and shall adhere to a good and glorious cause, be assured that it has not been exaggerated or misplaced.

The feelings and convictions which influenced my career in Ireland, have undergone no change. Still, as ever, I perceive within my country the faculties that further a useful and honorable position, and believing that they require only to be set in motion to prove successful, I still would prompt her to put them forth. Besides, there is within me a pride that cannot be subdued, there is within me an ambition that can not be suppressed. I desire to have a country which shall work out a fortune of her own, and depend no longer for subsistence on the charity of other nations.

I desire to have a country which I can point to with exultation, whose prosperity shall be my life, whose glory shall be my guerdon. I desire to have a country which shall occupy a beneficent position in the world, and by her industry, intellect, integrity and courage, shall contribute, in community with all free nations, to the common happiness and grandeur of humanity. Hopes may have darkened, but the country to which I would see my country linked is before me still—a height like that of Tabor, crowned with an eternal sun. It is a bold ambition, but in this free country I could have none other. The moment we set our foot upon her shore we behold the offspring of Freedom, the energy, the spirit, the opulence to which she has given birth, and at a glance we comprehend her fruitfulness, unity and splendor. We behold the wonders she has wrought, the deformed transformed, the crippled colony springing into the robust proportions of an empire which Alexander might well have sighed to conquer—the adventurous spirit of her sons compensating, by its rapidity, in little more than half a century, for the thousands of years in which the land lay still in the shadow of the ancient forest.

We behold all this, and the worship of our youth becomes more impassioned and profound. To this land I come, an outcast, to seek an honorable home, as an outcast to claim the protection of a flag that is inviolable. By one of the wisest and noblest of the ancient legends it was decreed that all those who were driven forever from their own country should be admitted into the citizenship of Athens. On the same ground, in virtue of the sentence of perpetual banishment which excludes me from my native land, I sought a quiet sanctuary in the home of Washington. To no other land could the heart which has felt the rude hand of tyranny so confidently turn for a serene repose. Long may she prosper, continuing faithful to the inheritance left her.

Long may America prosper, gathering into the bosom of her great family the children of all nations—adding to her territory not by the sword of the soldier, or the audacity of the statesman, but by the diffusion of her principles and with the ascendancy of her simple laws and institutions; for with the good sense and forever aspirations of mankind—body and soul prosper, earth, just adding to her stock of strength and dignity and wisdom, and high as she has her constellation holds and others even to the last generation, may the monuments of her liberty be erected in the darkest storms which shake the throne and dynasties of the old world; may it stand unscathed the darkest night which falls upon the arms of a struggling people; may it shine forth like the cross to the wilderness, and be to them an emblem of hope and a signal of salvation.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, June 10.

Senate.—Several petitions were presented. Mr. Seward presented a resolution from the New York Chamber of Commerce in favor of the removal of the obstructions at the mouth of the Mississippi River; also a resolution providing for the purchase of a cemetery for the interment of seamen and others of that class.

The resolution offered by Mr. Seward, for the purchase of Catlin's collection of Indian paintings, was next taken up. Mr. Bradbury hoped that the subject would be referred to the Committee on Libraries. A general debate ensued, after which the bill was laid on the table by a tea vote.

Mr. Brooks offered a resolution calling for a report on the practicability and cost of a ship canal across the peninsula of Florida—agreed to.

The Senate then went into executive session, and at 1 o'clock adjourned.

In the House.—The Journal being read, the consideration of the Florida Railroad Bill was resumed.

Mr. Orr proposed a substitute, slightly changing the location of the road.

Mr. Martin delivered a speech against railroad grants generally.

Mr. Orr, on the contrary, defended them.

Mr. Jones, of Tennessee, moved that the bill be laid upon the table. Decided affirmatively.

Another ineffectual attempt was made to take up the Pennsylvania contested election case. The House then went into Committee, and took up the Indian appropriation bill.

Mr. Meacham made a speech in favor of protection to domestic manufactures, going minutely into all the injurious results of the act of 1846.

Mr. Outlaw, one of the seceders from the late Whig Caucus, justified his course in that occasion, and insisted that the Compromise resolutions were properly introduced in that body. He would support no man for President who is not fully and unquestionably committed to the Compromise measures. The Committee rose, and the House adjourned.

Outrages on the Rio Grande.

The following are some particulars in regard to recent outrages on the Rio Grande, which have been previously mentioned by telegraph. The Brownsville (Texas) Flag, of the 15th ult. says:

"On the evening of the 10th ult., a gang of about 40 men, consisting of Mexicans and Indians, attacked a party of seven Americans, who were encamped at a lake called Carpaceuse, five of those at the camp are said to have been murdered, with all their party taken into Mexico—two of the men, fortunately, were not the murdering of the lake, shooting ducks, at the time, and succeeded in making their escape. These robbers and murderers are said to have crossed the river some 40 miles above Brownsville, on Monday, the 7th ult., and on detachments of them openly recrossed it again soon after perpetrating the murder, bearing with them the right hand of each of their slaughtered victims, while the remainder of the savages coolly encamped on the ground where the massacre occurred, expecting no doubt, another feast of blood from those whom they deemed absent from the camp and would probably return, unconscious of danger.

The population of the neighborhood was not only too sparse for resistance, but afraid to venture out to hunt."

The Flag contains a letter from Weigers Adams, which says that it is understood that these Mexicans and Indians were instructed by the authorities of Mexico, to kill and plunder all American citizens near the frontier, and for acting as they did, under the instructions of the aforesaid authorities they mutilated the bodies of the murdered men, taking the right hand of each to testify that they were entitled to a reward of thirty or forty dollars offered by Mexico for each American they murder on the frontier.

On the evening of the 14th ult., Mr. Philip Rogers, a merchant of Rio Grande City, while standing behind his counter, was stabbed to the heart and killed by a Mexican, who had ostensibly come on to purchase goods.

As strange as it may seem abroad, says the Rio Bravo, this is the tenth murder which has taken place within the last three weeks. For the last two months the average has been three killed per week. No man's life is safe from these Mexican assassins for a single hour. It has become a grave question, what is to be done in this state of things? If it should continue, there will not be an American on the river in six months."

☞ The Fitchburg Reveille, referring to the summary ejection of Rantoul from the National Democratic Convention, thus branding as counterfeit the Coalition Democracy of Massachusetts, makes the following startling but not improbable statement:

"The result at Baltimore is only what we foresaw, and it is but a precursor of the fate of every Democrat who deserted his own party last year, and traded himself off as Charles Sumner and Free-soil. At the very time that the bullcombs consequent on that base traffic were going on, there were agents sent on from Washington and wailing around the State House who registered the name of every professed Democrat, who was concerned in that bargain. A friend who knew and spoke with these men, authorizes us to say that this fact is susceptible of proof. We mean that the leaders of the National Democracy had the name of every considerable party man registered, who would by probability vote present himself at the National head quarters in search of office. They were read out of the national party at that moment, and should the Democracy ever again regain the ascendancy, no man who cannot wash his skirts clear of all taint of the coalition, will ever receive one office from a Democratic administration, from a tide-waiter's berth upwards."

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

In your issue of the 11th inst., I note an article, to the Health Insurance Companies of Springfield, Mass., and Connecticut in the Mechanics' Mutual of Hartford. Association was closing up its affairs, which has been a matter of inquiries, by members of the Mechanics' Life Association, of Springfield, Mass., with an office in this city, having confounded the names of the two associations. Therefore allow me to say for the information of the public that the Mechanics' Mutual Benefit Association, and the Mechanics' Union Association, are two distinct companies and have no connection with each other, and that the Mechanics' Union Association is now in a flourishing condition and is paying its losses promptly. The affairs of which are managed by able and worthy men, and all just claims are promptly paid. For further information, reference may be had to the Company's advertisement, which you will insert.

South Carolina Whig Convention.

CHARLESTON, June 11. The Whig State Convention met last night, and was very fully attended. The proceedings were characterized by entire harmony and great enthusiasm. The preamble to a set of resolutions sets forth sacrifices that have been made by the Whigs of S. C. in their devotion to the union of the States and asserts that they are prepared to stand upon the compromise platform as a finality—as essential to the harmony and existence of the Whig party and the integrity of the Union.

The first resolution declares that the Whigs of S. Carolina will meet the Whigs of every section of the common country on the basis of the compromise, and will take a hearty support to any Whig candidate, and none other, who will distinctly and explicitly avow his acceptance of the compromise as the final settlement of the questions included in it, and a determination to adhere to and support it as President of the United States.

The second resolution endorses the present administration of the federal government and eulogizes President Fillmore.

The third resolution expresses admiration for the talent of Mr. Webster.

Neither of the resolutions instruct the delegates to the National Convention.

ATTRACTIVE.

The Stage—Amusements at City Hall to-night.

The dramatic company, under the management of Mr. William B. English, continues to attract very full houses at the City Hall. During the past week, a variety of legitimate plays and popular farces have been produced, and met with a success unprecedented. The audiences have nearly every evening numbered many of the first families in Bangor, who will bear witness to the superiority of the performances, and the excellent order invariably maintained. Mr. English has not only ingratiated himself in the good wishes of our community, and secured their respect by the elevated character of his entertainments, but won a fair reputation for his prompt business habits, and fulfilment of every pecuniary obligation; a duty which has been so much neglected by other companies, as to create with some, a total distaste for dramatic amusements.

The "Lady of Lyons" has been better performed, as a whole than it has ever been before by any company in this city. The Pauline of Mrs. English secured her many admirers, who justly appreciated her efforts. Mr. Davis also performed Claude Melnotte, in a manner deserving all praise. Other plays, such as the Robber's wife, Black eyed Susan, Fizzaro, and Martha, Gibby have been quite successful, and have afforded Messrs. Brown, Littell, Beatie and Madigan ample sway for the exercise of their professional talents in the principal characters. In truth they have acquitted themselves handsomely. Brown has fine comical talents—a rare gift for everything humorous; indeed his facility of mirthfulness must be quite large to make so much sport. This evening a splendid legitimate comedy called the "Soldier's Daughter" is to be produced with a powerful cast, and a new farce, called "The Young Widow," in which Miss Steele will play a favorite part, and will no doubt please her many admirers. The bill likewise announces the fashionable dance La Sylphide, by Miss E. Smith and Miss L. Western.

A CARD.

MRS. WINSLOW TO THE LADIES.

Mrs. Winslow, an old and experienced nurse and Female Physician, would call the attention of the Ladies to her Soothing Syrup for Children teething. It will immediately relieve them from pain, allay all spasmodic action, soften the gums, reduce inflammation, and in fact regulate the Bowels. Depend upon it Mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and relief and health to your children.

Price 25 cents per bottle.

We have sold very large quantities of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for a number of years, several thousand a year, and have never heard the least complaint of any one having used it, but on the contrary all concur in ascribing to it the highest degree of praise. It seems to operate like magic, and is the very best remedy in the world for all kinds of Bowel complaints in children, whether arising from teething or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from pain and exhaustion, Do not let your prejudices or the prejudices of others prevent your using this valuable remedy. We speak from what we do know after using it in our families, and from what we have seen of its operations in the families of others, and we say unhesitatingly that no one who uses it as directed will have cause to regret it. On the contrary, they will find it will save pain, time and money, and counsel them to procure it without delay. We have no interest in recommending it, only what arises from a knowledge of its value, and a desire to see the little sufferers relieved, and the mothers and nurses encouraged in the use of a medicine which will do all that is claimed for it.

We have never known an instance of dissatisfaction by any who have used it, but in every case where it has been used, mothers concur in pronouncing it the greatest relief in all cases of Dysentery and Diarrhœa in children, whether it arises from teething or any other cause. We have no traveling agents, and this medicine is not sold by any druggists in this city, except at retail from our store, so that when you buy of us you buy of the first hand, and get the genuine article. Sold by Agents in nearly every town in the State.

☞ Cases have been cured, which were treated by the Cramp and Pain Killer.

The world is astonished at the wonderful cures performed by this HAMPSHIRE PAIN KILLER, manufactured by CURTIS & PERKINS of Bangor, Me. It is a power both known and felt in all cases of Cramp or Pain in the Stomach, Bowels, Limbs, or any part of the system. It allays inflammation, and in a few minutes after taking a dose, the patient is entirely free from pain. Cases have been cured, which were treated by many physicians, and had been given up as incurable, after every other remedy had been tried in vain, by the use of this Pain Killer. Evidence of the most satisfactory character can be given, that it will relieve in a shorter time than any other remedy in the world. Evidence of cures, that would seem almost incredible, can be given, if necessary. Agents may be assured that every bottle of this Pain Killer sold, will give satisfaction, or the money will be refunded. Agents will find it for their interest to keep a supply on hand, as the sales of which are managed by able and worthy men, and all just claims are promptly paid. For further information, reference may be had to the Company's advertisement, which you will insert.

Clapboard Planing!

A Challenge!

THE subscribers are running one of Woodbury's Stationary Knife machines for planing Clapboards, and claim to be able to plane all kinds and qualities better than can be done by any other method now known. And as in a recent estimate, for a contract to build the new High School House in this city, a stipulation was inserted that "the Clapboards should be planed by hand," thereby intimating that HAND-PLANING is superior to MACHINE—now be it known that we challenge any person to place any quantity of Clapboards from 100 upward, by hand, (a fair day's work being done,) against the like quantity planed by us with our machine.

A committee of three practical workmen, mutually chosen, to decide the merits of the work and whose decision the losing party shall forfeit to the other

FIFTY DOLLARS.

We wish to have all kinds and qualities of Clapboards, Wet and Dry, submitted to this test. We shall show our great superiority on the poorest as well as the best quality.

DR FONTAINE'S BALM —OF A— THOUSAND FLOWERS.

For the Toilet, the Nursery, for Bathing, and many Medicinal Purposes.

HIGHLY perfumed by its own ingredients recommended by the faculty of almost every European city, and established under the patronage of almost every Physician in London and Paris, and thousands of individuals, who make daily use of it in New York, Philadelphia and Boston—it is the greatest luxury a lady or gentleman could wish for the improvement of health, for comfort and refined toilet enjoyment, and its delicate soothing sensation, all the delightful influences it imparts to the complexion.

We give a few of the premium properties of the already well established by actual experience!

FIRST—It will Instantly remove every Defect of the Complexion,

And establishes in its stead Beauty and Health, at the time when, both by the changes of age, or roots of natural or disease, have been obscured and undermined—it cleanses the skin, and draws to the surface all impurities, and every species of pimples and blotches, also removes tan, sunburns, yellowness and freckles, imparting to the skin its original purity, and unsurpassed freshness, rendering it clear, smooth and white.

SECOND—It promotes the Growth and increases of the Hair, causing it to Curl in the most natural manner.

It cleanses the head from dandruff, giving vigor, health and life to the very roots of the hair.

THIRD—It is a superior article for Shaving, vastly superior to all descriptions of Soaps, Creams, Pastes, &c.

As a DENTRIFICE for Cleansing the Teeth, it is by far the most fashionable and only compound yet discovered, preventing decay, relieving pain, destroys all cankers, and renders the teeth as white as alabaster. For bathing, for suffering infants, and for adults to promote sweetness of body, pleasantness, health and strength, and to prevent eruptions, &c., there is no article more suitable than this BALM. It may be used in cold or warm, hard or soft water.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS WITH U. S. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON.

No 92 State Street, Boston.

IN 1840 the subscriber was appointed by the Commissioner of Patents, Agent of the U S Patent Office, in accordance with the 10th Sec of Act of 1837.

Having relinquished the Agency for the transaction of Models, and adopted a more expeditious mode of sending them to the Patent Office, where by a Patent may be procured in one or two days after the contents are received, he will continue to furnish them from his specifications, preparing Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all the necessary Papers and Drawings for Patents, and to render advice on legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe and other countries.

By application at the office, inventors are saved the time and expense of a journey to Washington, and they have as well as if personally present, for obtaining their patents. They also have the advantage of verbally explaining their inventions, and of consulting in respect to them, matters of great importance in order to obtain correct descriptions and claims. The experience of fifteen years' practice, an extensive collection of the works, periodicals, &c. on mechanics, objects, the Patent Laws, and all matters of information connected with the business, and the long time this office has been established, together with accounts there kept of inventions patented at Washington, enable the subscriber to afford inventors desirous of procuring Patents, assistance and information in which other respects might be difficult of attainment.

E. G. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents

WASHINGTON, JULY 21, 1849.—During the time I occupied the Office of Commissioner of Patents, E. G. EDDY, Esq. of Boston, and I business at the Patent Office as Solicitor for procuring Patents. I found we few of any, persons acting in that capacity who had so much business before the Patent Office, and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity and correctness. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
